PERSONAL WORD

Most of us grew up with a Christmas that starts the day after Thanksgiving and ends with a thud sometime Christmas afternoon.

For weeks, we drag trees into our living rooms, we hang socks from our fireplaces, and we hide things in shiny paper-wrapped boxes to give to folks we like.

But then, after the presents are opened on December 25th, the tree is thrown out on the curb to be tossed in a landfill or at best mulched into landscaping material, the socks are put back in the attic, and the presents begin a meteoric rise and fall journey of importance in our lives.

Whenever I am in my parents' basement, where all good Christmas presents go to die, I cannot help but remember that these things that now sit there gathering dust were once center-stage on Christmas morning. Now they are junk, waiting for Goodwill to recycle them into someone else's cheaper prize.

Without Advent, Christmas can too easily turn into a gift exchange, where we walk through the motions with our holiday parties and nonstop cheer only to find the season thrown to the curb the day it is meant to begin. Advent, contrary to what the supermarkets and the malls are selling, is a season of preparation. A season of waiting, watching, and wondering—spiritual disciplines none of us do very well, but perhaps they are our only hope.

Advent teaches us to see in the dark. It is during this season when the darkness seems most obvious. The world is colder, the days are shorter, and for those of us who have experienced loss, we feel those losses even more during the holidays. While the music in the stores says it's the most wonderful time of the year, this is the season when we have the highest depression rates and the most attempted suicides. Something about the way we celebrate the holidays leaves many out in the cold.

The Christian season of Advent takes the darkness of life seriously, while making it clear that the darkness does not have the final say. The symbols on the Chrismon tree, the candles of the Advent Wreath, the hope expressed in our hymn singing—they all point to the truth expressed in the gospels: that no matter how the darkness tries, it cannot overcome the light. The world's version of Christmas temporarily covers the darkness with electric lights, holiday muzak, and manufactured cheer. Advent proclaims the darkness has been forever pierced by the manger cries of an infant king.

While the world around us does its best to celebrate Christmas the only way it knows how, I invite you to take the more narrow way. In this holy season of preparation, may we all take up the hard work of seeing in the dark.

See you Sunday!

Advent 2015 Reflection Journal

Companion to Advent Series
Lullaby for a Savior

This Advent, we have prepared a special reflection journal for you. We hope the prompts provided in the journal will give you a starting place to mark each day of Advent and urge you to respond by creatively writing, drawing and praying.

The prompts will focus on the lullaby that is being explored each week in our worship services.

- Sunday, November 29
Mary's Song      Luke 1:46-55
- Sunday, December 6
Zechariah's Song      Luke 1:67-79
- Sunday, Decemeber 13
The Angels Song      Luke 2:8-14
- Sunday, December 20
Simeon's Song      Luke 2:22-35

OAKMONT UPDATE

Advent is here! Christ is coming and that means we have a lot of preparations to make. I'm not just talking about drinking lots of eggnog, although I plan on having my fill. At our Oakmont campus, we have begun renovations and been praying, dreaming and getting ready for Christ's arrival in new and fresh ways. Of course, we are expectant that Christ will arrive!

What will it look like when he comes? Isaiah 11 says that Jesus will be the "shoot of the stump of Jesse" that will draw all creation to himself in a glorious harmony. Ah, that doesn't happen over night, my friends. Even kudzu has to take some time to grow. The journey from the birth of the Christ-child to Jesus' fulfillment of his mission will take more than just a single day of remembrance. It will take a season and I look forward to us sharing that season together.

WE WANT YOU to be a part of the Oakmont "Seed Team."

The singular focus of the Seed Team is to commit to worship at Oakmont from January to Easter. Come January, God is going to work an incredible new thing where we take the best of Oakmont and the best of Trinity and reach out to West Homewood in new and exciting ways. Our hope is that Trinity West Homewood will help engage those in West Homewood who have no church home or no relationship with Jesus Christ. To get there, we need a season to have people to welcome them into worship. We would love for you to commit to worship at Oakmont from January to Easter to help build excitement and community for West Homewood. What better way to signal Christ's arrival than to share the joy that brings with your neighbor! All we ask is a season of worship. You may not be called to that space forever but I am confident however that some will get there and discover that this is precisely where they belong. One great thing for Trinity folks is that you will still have access to excellent childcare on-site and you know the worship is going to be spirit-filled. I promise you'll see some familiar faces there. To sign up you can visit the Trinity website or you can email David Thompson at dthompson@trinitybirmingham.com.

Another team, our Launch Team, will begin training this Sunday at 10 AM in Mouat Chapel and anyone is welcome to come hear about what God is doing if you are curious.

May we prepare for Christ's coming in a new way and make preparations now!

Blessings!
Rev. Jack Hinnen

Wesley Hall

Friday, December 18 @ 6 PM in the Gym
Showing: "Prep and Landing"

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICES

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24

CHILDREN'S SERVICE

3:00 PM | Sanctuary

This casual service is designed for families with young children. Communion will be served.

Note new time and location!

PERSONAL COMMUNION

3:00 - 5:00 PM | Wesley Hall

Come and go at any time during these two hours for an intimate time of family or individual worship and communion.

CANDLELIGHT COMMUNION

5:00, 7:00 & 11:00 PM | Sanctuary

Trinity's traditional services of Christmas with music, word, candlelight and communion.

With special music by the Sanctuary Choir, Cross & Flame Youth Choir, and Trinity Strings.

HOLY COMMUNION

is offered each Sunday in Advent.

It is served in the Sanctuary at 9:45 AM and 12:00 Noon

following the traditional worship services.

It is served every Sunday in Advent during all Contact worship services.

CHRISMON TREES

This year, two Chrismon trees are displayed in the Sanctuary. The tree in front of the lecturn is the Chrismon tree that belonged Oakmont UMC.

We are so delighted for it to be a part of our Advent decorations this year.

MISSION & OUTREACH

ANGEL TREES Trinity is providing Christmas gifts to over 300 local children! REMEMBER! Return your Angel gifts by this Sunday, December 6.

TRINITY MANGER OFFERING, CHRISTMAS GIFT OF JOY

This special offering goes to support the work of our local ministry partners: Urban Ministry, Church of the Reconciler, Firehouse Shelter, Family Promise of Birmingham, and many other local organizations directly benefit from your generosity. Offerings can be made during the Advent season using the Gift of Joy envelopes found in the pews. Watch Tidings for details on new options for this gift!

SHARE THE WARMTH: COAT DRIVE Trinity is holding a winter coat drive this Christmas, because we believe everyone should have a warm coat. Bring gently used or new adult and children's coats to the 2nd floor commons or outside the church office. Donations will be accepted from November 29 - December 27. Coats will go to ministry partners, Firehouse Shelter and Church of the Reconciler.

FESTIVAL OF THREE KINGS, December 12 Trinity along with other local UMC's, will distribute Angel Tree gifts to families at Birmingham-Southern's campus. We need volunteers to help set up (10am-Noon), distribute the gifts (1-3pm), and clean up (3-4pm). To volunteer please contact Cassie Cates at 205-515-931.

FAMILY PROMISE GIFT WRAP VOLUNTEERS, December 12 & 19

This wrapping booth will open December 1-24 at Brookwood Village. This is a fun, family-friendly opportunity. It is also a great opportunity for teen service hours. Support the cause by having your gifts wrapped at the booth. Volunteers needed (3-hour shifts) on Saturday, December 12 & 19. Email Jamie Fitzwater to sign up, jf2208@yp.com.

FAMILY PROMISE, December 13-20 Every quarter of every year, Trinity opens its doors to local families who need a place to rest their heads. This year we have the joy of hosting families the week before Christmas. We need volunteers to simply play games with children, break bread with these amazing families, and spend the night with them to make sure all is well. Interested volunteers can contact Laura McCain at lamccain@bellsouth.net.

Questions about Trinity's Mission and Outreach programs? Please contact Kristan Walker, Director of Outreach Ministries
